Global Access Program
Promoting Australia’s defence industry globally
BAE Systems is one of the largest defence companies in the world. With a strong commitment to its principal markets, we are a truly global organisation.

In 2012 we created the BAE Systems Global Access Program, which is committed to ensuring our local suppliers have access to worldwide opportunities. The program provides our local suppliers an entry point into our company’s global supply chain.

We search across our global supply chain and partners to find opportunities for our suppliers to support our diverse products and services in the air, land, sea and electronic domains. The Global Access Program team will work with you, we can offer expertise in engineering, procurement and quality specialists from within our company to support you in successfully delivering a competitive solution.

Please contact us if you have a niche capability or a proven product that you believe is globally competitive.
